When are applications for funds being accepted?

The application process is open now and will stay open for as long as funds are available from the COVID-19 Impact Fund.

The screening agency will work with residents to determine what additional documentation is required.

If I get a grant, how will I receive the money?

In general, residents do not receive the funding directly. Since the purpose of the COVID-19 impact grants is to help residents cover past due bills, payment will be issued directly to the provider (utility company, landlord, etc.). In rare cases, gift cards might be issued, for example to help with food expenses, if free local food resources are not available or appropriate.

Do I need to meet in person with someone to fill out an application?

No. Due to the need for social distancing, residents will have a virtual interview or call with the screening agencies.
